PRESENTED BY

NALGEP

Join brownfield leaders from across the country to discuss challenges and identify solutions to cleanup and redevelopment in your community. Brownfield practitioners from local governments and the private sector will join Federal policy makers in workshop sessions on emerging brownfield issues.

Monday, July 24th

The Summit begins with a full-day of roundtable and break-out sessions on current brownfield topics and challenges. Interactive sessions will feature innovative solutions, local experts, and barriers to reuse.

Discussion topics include:

- Sustainable reuse
- Land-use and institutional controls
- Land banks
- Railfields
- Legislative Update

Invited guest speakers include:

- Susan Bodine, Assistant Administrator, U.S. EPA Office of Solid Waste and Emergency Response
- David Lloyd, Director, U.S. EPA Office of Brownfields Cleanup and Redevelopment
- Sandy Baruah, Assistant Secretary, Economic Development Administration

Tuesday, July 25th

Choose from two concurrent sessions. Participate in an informational briefing session on Capital Hill or break-out discussions. All Summit participants will reconvene as a group to wrap-up the Summit.

Option One:

Discussion topics include:

- Grant compliance
- All Appropriate Inquiry
- New UST regulations
- Inventories and measurement
- 2006 - 2007 Network priorities

Option Two:

On Capital Hill brownfield practitioners will highlight local brownfield programs and inform congressional members and staff about the need to ensure progress in brownfield cleanup and community revitalization.

About the Brownfield Communities Network

The Brownfield Communities Network is a national network of over 700 brownfield practitioners working to demonstrate how the cleanup and redevelopment of contaminated property can be an effective tool for community revitalization. The Network works to harness the knowledge, expertise, and experience of leading communities, and export it to their peers. The Network is managed by NALGEP.
